Socialists Protest

Sonoma, Cal., Jan. 10, 1914

To the Honorable, the President and Congress of the United States of America:

Whereas, Thousands of miners in the copper regions of Michigan, as well as in other parts of the United States, have been for months engaged in a terrific industrial struggle with the mine owners; and

Whereas, In this struggle the workers have encountered atrocity and outrage, have seen their members murdered, their property destroyed, their homes ravaged, their children killed; the editors and publishers of their papers arrested, thrown into jail and refused release on bail; their leaders shot, violently assaulted, dragged thru the streets of the city and driven out of the state; and

Whereas, These events demonstrate conclusively the utter incapacity of the present mine owners to operate the mines of these regions either in justice to labor or in safety to the communities, or in harmony with the welfare of the people of this nation. Therefore, be it,

Resolved, That the undersigned hereby demand of the Congress of the United States to take steps as follows:

First. That a thorough congressional investigation of the whole strike situation be made immediately and the findings be published at the earliest possible moment.

Second: That the government take immediate steps to acquire possession of the copper mines, and operate them under union conditions,

Passed by Socialist Local Sonoma, Sonoma Cal.

JOHN GUIBERGIA HAS NARROW ESCAPE

With Double Team and a Lead Horse is Swept Off Bridge Into Raging Waters of a Flood-Swoolen Creek

During the heavy freshet of last Monday John Guibergia, the well-known horse-dealer on the Baxter tract in this valley, had a narrow escape from drowning.

The Petaluma Courier, in mentioning Guibergia's thrilling experience, says:

"While attempting to cross the bridge on the county road between the Bartlett and Pressey ranches, Monday morning, John Guibergia, living near Sonoma, was swept down the river and narrowly escape drowning. The rain had caused the water to reach one of the highest marks of the season and the young man who is a stranger in this vicinity, did not realize the danger when he attempted to cross the bridge with a double team and leading a horse, which he intended to bring to town. As he was crossing the bridge the current swept him and the horses 100 yards down the stream and his escape from death was a miracle. Help was soon summoned and Messrs. Ward and Zoller of the A. and Z. duck farm waded into the water, which was up to their necks, and after a hard task succeeded in cutting the harness loose from the team One of the horses was nearly choked to death by the harness tightening around its neck. They succeeded in getting Guibergia out of the water and he was soaked through and suffering from the cold and dampness. The man was removed to the home of Mr. Bremle nearby where he was given dry clothing and cared for. He was greatly frightened and much excited over the experience which he tried to tell in broken English. The wagon will be recovered after the flood waters have receded.

Guibergia was on his way to Petaluma to purchese feed and to attend to some other business when he was swept down the stream.

When the accident occurred it was thought that he could not be rescued as the water was so high, so help was telephoned for to Petaluma. In the meantime the young men from the duck farm had accomplished good work and saved the man and horses.

It Costs Money to Violate the Game Laws

Felice Rovai, the well-known driver of the Sonoma Brewing and Ice Company, killed two tree squirrels last Sunday, for which he was arrested by Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner Lencioni and haled before Judge Campbell of this city. He plead guilty to killing game out of season and was soaked to the tune of twenty-five bucks by his honor. Rovai paid the fine with the remark that squirrels come high.

Two well-known Italian citizens of this city were also haled before his honor last Tuesday and fined $10 each for hunting without a license. Both fines were paid.

George Cornelius, who was born and raised in old Sonoma, will leave for Dawson City on May 1st. Young Cornelius is no "chekako," as this will be his third trip into the land of the midnight sun. He is a bear meat eater and capable of undergoing all the hardships of shooting the White Horse rapids and ascending the Chilkoot Pass, which he successfully accomplished several years ago.

Cornelius will be absent this trip for a year and will no doubt return to his old home here with his share of the glittering gold of the Klondike.

When he leaves he will take with him a case of old Sonoma Valley wine from the Engler wine cellars in the suburbs of Sonoma, with which he will regale some of his Dawson City friends. We wish you bon voyage, George.

Morning worship 11 a.m.

In this service I want to speak of the Glorious Gospel of the Blessed God. It is the greatest and best thing in Sonoma. They have no such marvelous thing in heaven. The angels know that the members of the human race that let it work on them will be greater in the end than they are. The air you breathe is a marvel; the light you walk in is another and you are another. Things are not what they seem. The big man tries to understand some of these things. There are some people in Sonoma who may receive a jolt. You cannot do a better thing than give unto God just His dues and no more. The Sabbath is His as well as a few other things you have.

THE BLACK POINT CUT-OFF MEETING

Napa Chamber of Commerce Boosts the Great Undertaking at a Meeting Held Last Saturday

The Sonoma Chamber of Commerce and El Verano Development Association sent quite a delegation of citizens from this valley to attend the Black-Point Cut-Off booster meeting of the Napa Chamber of Commerce held last Saturday.

Five automobile loads of representative citzens of Sonoma Valley were present at the meeting, which was enthusiastic for the Cut-Off. Among the speakers who addressed the meeting was State Highway Commissoner Blaney, who was warm in his advocacy for the Black Point proposition and favored making it a part of the great State highway. The meeting was also addressed by F. T. Duhring and Dr. A. M. Thomson of this city and members of the Board of Supervisors of both Sonoma and Marin counties.

A Napa capitalist by the name of Crawford, during the course of the meeting offered to purchase $250,000 worth of bonds at 5 per cent to help the proposition along.

There will be a big meeting of the Sonoma Valley Chamber of Commerce next week at the City Hall in this place to boost the Black Point Cut-off in particular and the good roads proposition in general in Sonoma, Napa and Marin counties in order to put this section of California in closer touch with main traveled highways and the metropolis of the Pacific.

The Progressive Slate.

AFTER many postponements and many conferences, and not without some obvious internal dissensions, all to the end of keeping the party from breaking to pieces, two names have been written definitely upon the Progressive slate for the coming campaign. Govenor Johnson will be a candidate to succeed himself. Mr. F. J. Heney will be a candidate for the senatorship. What will happen in the conflicting candidacies hitherto announced, does not yet appear. It is a practical assurance that Mr. Eshleman, prominently in view either for the senatorship or the governorship, will retire; and it is surmised that Mr. Rowell, who has been in the running for the senatorship, will do likewise. Mr. Webb declares that he will not run for senator, and Mr. Wheeler declares he is "not a candidate."

It is no secret that the arrangement by which Mr. Johnson again seeks the governorship, is a forced one. Mr. Johnson preferred to run for the Senate; he wanted Mr. Eshleman to run for the governorship. He would have liked to do something for Rowell, but could not convince himself that Rowell possessed vote-getting qualities. He would have liked to send Heney to purgatory or even to a warmer place if his powers had been equal to the job.

It was Heney who broke the slate. He would, he said, run either for the senatorship or the governorship. Mr. Johnson might choose either candidacy, but he could not have both. He could not push Mr. Heney to one side in favor of Eshleman or Rowell or anybody else. Mr. Heney was "sot" on this point, and when he gets in this mood you might as well plead with a mad dog. Mr. Heney now says that he entered the contest with Governor Johnson's "specific approval," to which Governor Johnson replies that Mr. Heney's statement "should be corrected." Here there would appear to be the elements of a rumpus in low life.

In the meantime the Progressive part of California definitely organized a month ago, is doing fairly well in the registrations. More Progressives have registered in Alameda County than Republicans. In San Francisco the figures run the other way. It is too soon to concede an even break between Progressive and Republican parties, but it is evident that there is in California a Progressive party of very considerable importance at the point of numbers. The Progressive leaders claim that they do not expect a majority in the registrations. "Give us," they say, "one-third of the registrations of either of the old parties and we will win." This is a good deal of a brag, but it may serve to sustain campaign hopes and to nullify discouragement.

The logic of the situation points just one way—to the success of the Democrats in the November elections. For with the old Republican party divided into two groups, and the Democratic party intact, the case is similar to that which in the national sphere resulted last year in the election of President Wilson.

The Democratic party will enter the coming campaign in California under several advantages. There is, first, the division of its enemies. Then there is the prestige of national control, which counts for something, with the influences of the national administration, which ought to count for a good deal. Then there is an obvious revival of party spirit certain to be reflected in campaign activity. On top of all there will no doubt be many Republicans to give their support to Democratic nominees at the polls as a means of making effective their resentment against Johnson and their fears of Heney.—The San Francisco Argonaut, Jan. 10th.

Alcohol as Medicine

IN a recent article in AMERICAN MEDICINE, a writer provoked a controversy over the medicinal properties of alcohol by stating that "all theories to the effect that it is to be classed as a stimulant are about to be exploded." The sweeping statement, however, seems to have brought forward a deluge of proof to show that alcohol is pretty generally recognized among physicians to-day as being as necessary in the sick room as any medicine in use.

Dr. A. Jacobi, of New York, taking up the challenge of the writer who felt that alcohol was to be classed more as a sedative or anesthetic than as a medicine, remarks that the time will never come when alcohol will not be needed in illness, because "there are conditions which absolutely demand the use of alcohol as a prominent part of medication."

Dr. Jacobi details in an interesting manner his experience with the use of alcohol as a medicine, especially in diphtheria, since 1858. He cites a number of cases in which death seemed to be inevitable because antitoxins were ineffectual, where the administration of alcohol in large doses actually saved the patient's life. In cases of typhoid, as well as diphtheria, the lives of patients have been given up, but were saved by doses of alcohol. After setting forth some of the cures effected by the use of alcohol, when other remedies failed, Dr. Jacobi remarks:

> "My cases have not all been cured. I belong to the class that has to meet failures. But I have seen what was considered hopeless take a favorable turn. In diphtheria there are cases which are not influenced by antitoxin in small or big doses. That class of cases is not always hopeless when the doctor has hope and discrimination and the courage to fight infection and cheat the undertaker. I cannot tell the cause of the antiseptic action of alcoholic beverages when administered in sufficient doses. I merely refer to occurrences and observations extending over half a century or more. Let somebody else explain."

All this merely goes to show that alcohol itself is not without its use on behalf of humanity. In this, as in all other things, the evil is in the abuse. Some one has said that any virture, by carrying it too far, can be made a vice, and also that there should be moderation in everything, and not too much of that. The use of alcohol in many instances may be vicious; but as a medicine Dr. Jacobi takes the view that it is a blessing to mankind

We hear that Jessie J. will retire from her position as instructor of the gentlemen's cooking school. She says one man can eat more than four men can cook and that she is going to start a "boat club"

It is reported that Henry Pape, Louis Rouquie and Peter Bosch Jr. will be candidates for Justice of Peace. Of course Peter Bosch is sure to win out as he has the ladies vote. Election to be held June 28, 1915.

It is estimated that close to two and one half inches of rain fell here on Monday. This is nothing, as one of our old pioneers remembers the time when one foot of rain fell in an hour and it didn't rain hard either.

One gentleman friend of ours has found a way to evade the dog muzzling law. A portion of his farm in Napa Co., and a portion in Sonoma Co., so he ties his dogs up in Napa Co. Don't worry they'll be muzzling the people next.

Some members of the booster club are talking of holding an election to bond the burg for $5000 for the purpose of improving our "water front." Don't be in a hurry gents for if it keeps on raining there will be no "water front" left.

Mr. and Mrs. S Erazmus, who recently purchased a beautiful country home near Cooper bridge, one of the most romantic spots in the valley, have just received a carload of fine furniture from Fort Des Moines, Iowa, with which they intend to furnish their new home.

Anton Silva Sr., one of our well-known citizens, returned home on last Sunday, after a three-months visit to the land of his birth, Portugal, and other places of interest in Europe. The gentleman enjoyed his trip very much and looks to be in excellent health. He is glad to be home again and sings a little song entitled "I Love You California."

Quite a number of prominent citizens of Sonoma Valley passed through here last Saturday, en route to Napa, to be present at a meeting of the Napa County Supervisors, in order to confer on the Black Point Project. The Sonoma delegation, lead by Mayor Cummings, was composed of Fred Duhring, Dr. A. M. Thomson, John Picetti, Judge Jas. Campbell, Att'y Cowgill; Schellville, R Watt; El Verano Development Club, Messrs. Baines Brothers, Hon. Frank Sprague and William Kearney; Boyes Springs, Dr. Parramore. Jack Gottenberg was at the wheel of one of the machines. The party on the way home stopped at this burg a short time and reported the good work progressing favorably.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Jupiter Pluvius' steady work has kept the classes small this week.

The second quarter ends Friday and everyone is hard at work getting ready for the final exams.

And still they come. We added three more students to our roll this week, namely Sidney Cameron, Gussie Albers and Sadie Dunbar, to whom we extend a most hearty welcome.

Mr. Jeffry Brabant of New Zealand will give a lecture, accompanied by stereoptican views on New Zealand at the High School in the near future. Mr. Brabant will tell about the industrial conditions of the country of which he has made a close study. The date will be announced through these columns later.

SCHOOL BOND ELECTION ILLEGAL

Mr. Carl Dresel, Clerk of School Board, Explains the Reason

Mr. Carl Dresel, Clerk of the Sonoma Grammar School Board, in an open letter, relating to the recent Grammar School bond election being declared illegal, says:

"It is an unfortunate fact that we are subjected to so many changes in the laws under which we live, that it is hardly possible for us not to stumble occasionally.

The bond election held Dec. 20th last, has been declared illegal by our district attorney on account of opening the polls at 8 a. m. and closing at sundown, as has been the law until recently.

The polls should have been open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. In order to make our bonds desirable property we are forced to hold another election, which will be inaugurated as soon as possible.

We wish to express our regrets to the voters of our school district that we have to inconvenience them again to make the trip in this very wet winter weather to cast their ballots.

We hope, however, that our error will not influence detrimentally the result of the last election, but on the contrary will induce the small minority to change their vote and thereby carry the bonds unanimously.

Yours truly,
C. DRESEL,
Clerk of Board

Bidders will specify a price per ...neal foot.
